Drive widespread awareness and sell-through of the key WowWee Baby Shark licensed interactive plush products in the North American market.

strategy

A full funnel approach was taken to target parents of young children across a range of digital/social platforms in different phases of their buying journey. Video ads, image ads, text ads, and product ads were all employed across the various platforms, with creative A/B testing done on a continual basis to maximize performance. results highlights

Metrics across all key advertising platforms exceeded industry benchmarks and internal goals. As a result, sell-through was very strong at retail. Key highlights included:

YouTube campaigns performed exceptionally well from an efficiency standpoint, generating almost 5 million video views with a relatively limited budget. Discovery ad view rates were also extremely high at 3X the toy industry benchmark. A YouTube Kids campaign (a first for WowWee!) was also run in order to reach an exclusive audience with pre-roll ads on highly-relevant channel packs.

2

When driving traffic to the Baby Shark website, users spent a considerable amount of time on the website and converted (clicked through to retail) at very high rates, indicating a very engaged, well-targeted audience. Google Search campaigns specifically were very effective at capitalizing on the high search volume for the Baby Shark brand and driving traffic to the WowWee brand website.

Amazon Return On Ad Spend was 50% higher than the internal objectives set out when campaigns were launched. Our advertising efforts helped sell out the exclusive Amazon Pre-Order in only a few days, and consistently rank among the top selling products on Amazon within the Toys & Games category!
